Experiential Learning Program

Scholarship and Student Support
It is my pleasure to present Thabyay Education Foundation’s 2016-17 Annual Report. This year’s report includes many examples of how our work impacts on lives in marginalized communities in and around Myanmar. All our programs are aimed primarily at furthering the goal of a peaceful, democratic and prosperous Myanmar. Through these programs, we seek to provide learning and life-changing experiences for tomorrow’s leaders and their communities.

In 2016-17, we continued to implement the Community Leadership and Social Studies (CLASS) program with more emphasis on fostering peace and national reconciliation. We started a School of Interpretation and Translation (SIT) and expanded our collaboration with ethnic education entities in the most needed areas.

In line with our mission, we continued to provide comprehensive educational and professional services in support of human development, peace and national reconciliation in Myanmar. Our staff continued to develop new partnerships with key community organizations. Last year alone, we were entrusted with projects and grants from funders – primarily Open Society Foundations, the Leona M. and Harry B. Helmsley Charitable Trust and the Peace Support Fund – totaling about US$1.08 million for the duration. With support from friends around the world, we are committed to working harder to ensure our programs are relevant to changing circumstances and are implemented with the utmost efficiency.

As Myanmar gathers momentum with the ongoing reform process, we are determined to do our best to help contribute to this historic transition through our inclusive, cutting-edge educational and capacity-building programs.

All the achievements in the past years would not have been possible without generous support of our donors, partners, volunteers, staff and board. It is a privilege to work with all of you. Together, we shall celebrate our shared success and look forward to what lies ahead for the foundation and the country.
As we watch the succession of young people graduating from our programs – their faces reflecting their sense of achievement and their hope of making a success of their lives – we are heartened by the work that TEF is doing.

Myanmar has been changing for eight years now and with a civilian government given resounding approval by the people, we can look forward to more substantive changes cutting across all sectors of society.

Thabyay has been a part of this change and has tried to give force and direction to some of the changes. Its main effort has been to develop and mobilize one of the most valuable resources of Myanmar, its young people. For many years, Myanmar young people were not provided with the environment, facilities and opportunities for the development of their capacity. Now, walls have been knocked down, doors opened and bridges built for the young people of Myanmar to reach out to a wider world which, in the past, had been a distant dream.

Miracles can happen, but dreams do not turn into reality at the wave of a wand. The young people who have graduated from our programs have put in much time and effort, proceeding with determination and making sacrifices when necessary. We are happy to help them as they strive to make a life for themselves and, beyond their individual lives, to make their contribution to a changing Myanmar.

We at Thabyay are also honored to have friends and partners who share our hopes and concerns for the young people of Myanmar and have supported our programs in various ways.

We look forward with love and confidence to the contribution that Myanmar’s young people will be making to the development of a fair, open and democratic Myanmar.
Thabyay Education Foundation Annual Meeting 2016-17
THABYAY EDUCATION FOUNDATION (TEF)

OUR GOAL:
TEF will become a leading national non-profit education foundation in Myanmar, with long-term financial sustainability to implement its programs and achieve its aspirations.

OUR MISSION:
To inspire donors to invest in TEF’s programs aimed at transforming lives and building a peaceful, just and prosperous Myanmar.

OUR STRATEGIC PRIORITIES:
Expand and enhance TEF’s partnership with reputable institutions at home and abroad; instill principles of excellence and efficiency among its leadership and program staff in all of TEF’s operation; increase TEF’s donor-base and diversify funding sources for long-term sustainability of the organization; promote responsible stewardship of resources and funding entrusted to TEF and make sure they are used effectively and efficiently in pursuit of TEF’s vision and mission.

TO ACHIEVE OUR PRIORITIES WE WILL:

1. Continue reaching out to internationally known organizations to develop signature partnership programs. In addition to strengthening the existing partnerships, we will reach out to distinguished international organizations in the field of education and reputable universities – both domestic and international – to develop new partnership, scholarship and exchange programs that directly benefit Myanmar students.

2. Create professional development (training and/or workshop) opportunities for TEF staff. We will organize in-house professional development programs for TEF staff so that they will be able to develop their leadership, ICT and customer relations skills. We will also encourage staff to take advantage of other training opportunities on issues of accountability and transparency that might be available in Yangon.

3. Approach private sector and international organizations to raise TEF’s profile, which should lead to more fundraising and partnership opportunities. We will also organize events to raise awareness on TEF programs and activities with the aim of finding potential donors with interests in Myanmar’s education sector. We will expand our Evening/Weekend Professional Program to deepen our reach and generate more income at the same time.

4. Enhance capacity of, and sustain partnerships with, local partner education centers and schools around the country. We will organize partnership strengthening workshops and create an opportunity for our domestic partners and international partners to share their experience and knowledge working in Myanmar’s education sector, with emphasis on leadership, accountability and organizational development.

2. Teacher training
CD builds capacity of teachers, trainers and educators to provide quality education to unprivileged and unreached schools and communities. CD runs two teacher training programs:
• Border-based program covers refugee camps, migrant area in Thailand and IDP (internally displaced people) settlements near the border. It focuses on upgrading teachers’ skills and providing continuous teacher support and follow-up.
• In-Country program prioritizes increasing access to basic teacher training countrywide.

A. Short trainings
Both programs provide teacher training and trainer training at various levels- Introductory (2-3 days), Basic (3-5 days) to advanced (3-14 days). Trainings can be customized based on need assessment and/or schools’ and trainees’ requests. This year’s achievements are:

Due to difficulty in accessing some IDP areas, in partnership with The Karen Teacher Working Group (KTWG), CP trained over 100 Mobile Teacher Trainers who per year train over 2,934 teachers from 1,430 schools, which in return serve over 100,000 students across Kayin state.

B. Residential training: Training of Trainer for Educational Purposes Program
In 2016, CD has expanded its training service as part of its commitment to the capacity building of teaching and training. In partnership with the KTWG and Karen Education Department (KED), it implemented a seven-month residential program preparing qualified trainers to serve as reference trainers in the seven Kayin townships. Expected impacts from the TOT program are:

One of Educasia’s key partners from 2016 has been the Mon Intensive English Program (MIEP) in Mawlamyine. MIEP was founded in December 2015 and invites students from all over the state to participate in its 6-month resident program. In the past year, over 70 students successfully completed the program. The aim of the program is to improve students’ English and build a regional community and network of young people. Students are encouraged to continue their studies, as the organization has ties to educational institutions in both Thailand and Yangon. MIEP director, Min Nyi Nay Lan, also hopes that students will also be able to access further resources through Thabyay’s departments.

Partnership with Educasia has allowed MIEP to implement the Think English series as a core learning resources and students have also used its History of Burma textbook. Min Nyi Nay Lan said: “Think English has been especially useful for students because it was created for the Myanmar context and incorporates conversational English that is practical to everyday life here.” I look forward to future collaboration with Educasia in order to strengthen our English curriculum.”

Su Myat Mon, KKEC graduate Originally from Kyauk Phyu, Rakhine State, Su Myat Mon was already passionate about reading and learning English long before moving to Yangon. The drive for education is what led her to join EPP and continues to guide her career aspirations in journalism.

Even as a child, she read whatever she could get her hands on, educating herself as best as she could and so considered the UPP program a rare opportunity. She imagined she would become a teacher but in her Work Skills course, the teacher asked the students to reflect on what long-term aims they held for themselves. Emphasizing that money had never been a primary motivation, Su Myat Mon said: “I want to go around the world and meet people, explore, write books…”

It became increasingly evident that she wanted to pursue journalism. She wanted to learn more about politics in Myanmar, the region, and the world. Today this dream is a reality, as she now works as reporter at Frontier Magazine in Yangon. She gathers information on the latest news about parliament, ethnic issues, and activism taking place around the country – all issues that she is committed to not just as a professional but as a citizen. She hopes to one day continue her post-graduate studies in this field.

She advises new KKEC students to think of their course as a stepping stone in life and a way to access a kind of education not easily found, meeting students from all around the country. She stated that we often judge people negatively based on perceptions, “Sometimes I don’t want to identify myself with a group,” she said, “I just want to be seen as a person.”

Yan Naing Oo, KKEC graduate
Since completing KKEC’s year-long residency program, Yan Naing Oo has co-founded and directs a community organization geared towards improving young people education in rural and disadvantaged communities. He joined KKEC with the intention of developing his English skills, as well as gaining a better understanding of communities in Myanmar beyond his own. He reflects that through the development of critical thinking skills, a core learning objective of the program, he has been able to not only appreciate diversity but understand its value in moving the country forward. He also emphasizes how participation in Kant Kaw taught him the need for networking in order to realize one’s own goals for community development. To incoming students, his main advice is to enjoy the beauty of diversity and use this unique chance to develop one’s self.

Through his networks and personal determination Yan Naing Oo has launched a number of grassroots projects by the Foster Education Foundation. These include an e-Education project, bringing video-recorded lessons by qualified teachers to remote areas, an ICT project, cyber-security training, and a resource center with Educasia books. In addition he has taken on part-time consultancies with international organizations such as UNDP, Inter-Parliamentary Union, the Netherlands Institute for Myanmar Democracy, and Demo Finland on issues related to political theory and peace processes in Myanmar. He explains, “I want to see myself as someone who is valuable for communities in Myanmar and someone who creates a possible path for a better life…A strategic planner for nation-wide projects that meet local needs and national interest.”

In coordination with the Curriculum Department, the KKEC academic team aims to complete the CLASS curriculum document that includes objectives, standards, outcomes, syllabi and service learning component.
Exam Preparation Outreach Program (EPOP) is the flagship of Thabyay e-Learning Platform (TeP). It provides university and test preparation services for committed, community-minded individuals in Myanmar, Thailand and Cambodia who would like to improve their professional and academic knowledge. EPOP, launched in 2009, offers a unique and highly flexible blended learning model including self-study packs and the online study portal. These enable participants in almost any locations in Myanmar and Thailand to study for free on a schedule that suits them. The students are from different cities of Myanmar, and from refugee camps and migrant learning centers of Thailand-Myanmar border areas.

EPOP offers are Academic English 1, Academic English 2 and TOEFL ITP which aim to provide students, who have solid communicative competency in English, but lack the exposure to academic content, structure and vocabulary to be able to achieve necessary scores for their selected programs and to develop critical thinking skills while practicing relevant academic content areas.

TeP/EPOP services

Online courses:
- Academic English courses
- TOEFL preparation course
- TOEFL ITP intensive course.

Testing services:
- Pearson VUE authorized GED test
- ETS TOEFL ITP test
- TOEFL diagnostic test.

Every EPOP student is provided with a comprehensive package of learning materials that includes multiple textbooks, accompanying audio CDs, and a student handbook. Students complete courses through the EPOP Online Portal, Moodle, which provides students with access to their activities. After logging in, students can view their weekly assignments, take online quizzes and tests, participate in discussion forums, download the answer sheets to their weekly assignments, and access additional learning materials.

EPOP Study package distribution in 2016: 447 packages

EPOP enrollment by numbers 2015-16
During 2016, Thabyay e-Learning Platform served 470 students through three EPOP courses – Academic English 1&2, TOEFL ITP exam preparation – and provided 285 certificates for students who completed EPOP courses. In total, 925 TOEFL diagnostic tests have been given in order to measure the improvement of EPOP’s students and the level of English of the new applicants. In total 80 official TOEFL ITP tests were conducted in 2016 for 30 EPOP students and 50 non-EPOP students. 65 per cent of the official TOEFL ITP test takers reached their target scores and were admitted to universities abroad.

Further studies opportunity for marginalized ethnic young people

In 2016 TeP/EPOP introduced a new model of collaboration to enroll the students of community-based learning centers. The learning centers integrate EPOP into their course
GED Test Center for migrants and refugees on the Thai-Myanmar border

General Education Diploma (GED) Testing Service is a joint program between the American Council on Education (ACE) and Pearson VUE. Thabyay Education Network Foundation opened an authorized select GED Test Center partnering with Pearson VUE to provide testing services for students participating in the Migrant Learning Centers’ (MLC) GED Preparation Programs. General Education Development/EPOP primarily targets Myanmar learners living in refugee camps. Few students at the migrant learning centers in Mae Sot have formal Myanmar high school matriculation level and instead, most have completed an informal education in refugee camps or at migrant schools.

Many MLC students want to go to university but to access national or international programs, the students need a recognized high school diploma. The MLCs help prepare students from the Thai-Myanmar border to take a high school equivalency test, which is the GED high school equivalency diploma. When the students are ready for the GED Exam, MLCs send them to authorized test centers in cities such as Chiang Mai and Bangkok.

To fill the gap, Thabyay surveyed and assessed the needs of the GED test center associated with the MLCs in Mae Sot. Gratefully in November 2016, the Pearson VUE authorized select GED Test Center has been officially launched.

In February 2017, more than 100 exams have been administered by Thabyay’s GED Test Center in Mae Sot.

modules by giving specific class time to study through EPOP. Three learning centers for migrant and refugee students on the Thai-Myanmar border and two learning centers inside Myanmar have already started this collaboration. The discussion and initial collaboration has been taken with our partners of another five learning centers in Myanmar and Thailand for further studies opportunity of marginalized ethnic young people.

At the time of reporting, TeP/EPOP has partnering with five learning centers:
- Mon Intensive English Program (MIEP – Mawlamyine, Myanmar)
- Seh Theh Learning Center (STLC) – Demawso, Myanmar
- Marist Asia Foundation (MAF – Ranong, Thailand)
- Brighter Futures Program (BF – Mae Sot, Thailand)
- Love and Care Learning Center (LnC – Mae Sot, Thailand)

New course development
EPOP TOEFL ITP Express was piloted from January to March 2017. This intensive 10-week course is conducted twice per semester or four times per year. Students take a weekly
Ei Thin Zar, EPOP graduate, says her decision to enroll has had lasting impact on her life and influenced where she is today – in the US, as one of only two Fulbright scholars from Myanmar. Years earlier, when she took the national matriculation exam, she was four marks short of the score needed to study medicine. Looking back to this time, she says: “I had to work hard to make ends meet.” At one point she considered moving to Thailand to do factory work, however, she eventually moved to Mawlamyine where she began teaching. Through EPOP she participated in levels AE1 to TOEFL ITP from an internet café and was connected to an online volunteer who she says has motivated her to realize her full potential. The first time she took the exam in Bangkok, she achieved high enough marks to receive a scholarship to Assumption University’s Master of Education where she conducted an evaluation of Thabyay’s Think English series. She currently teaches Burmese to PhD students at the University of Wisconsin who plan to focus their research on Myanmar. “I am doing what I can for them, because they are also doing something for my country,” she says. Having developed the syllabus from scratch, she laughs: “I am the Burmese language department here.”

Looking ahead, she is thinking of applying for PhD programs allowing her to research educational language policy in Myanmar and ways to integrate indigenous languages, as well as study how incorporating such languages into curricula relates to the peace and development.

TeP tablet PC project in Myitkyina

The tablet project was piloted from May to October 2016, in partnership with the Young people Department of Kachin Baptist Convention (KBC). The aim was to provide access to digitally excluded communities, marginalized groups and minorities in remote areas. The TeP program coordinator visited the pilot from 28 July to 1 August 2016, met the KBC team and conducted mid-term diagnostic tests. During the pilot, more than 82 per cent of enrolled students actively studied with the tablets at the centre. Of 33 students, 25 were active during the final term of the pilot phase. Of these, 21 passed the final test and three were awarded for taking the official TOEFL ITP exam. TeP and KBC agreed to extend the pilot for a further semester, but intense conflicts occurred in Kachin State so this was not implemented. In February 2017, TeP started the integrated collaboration of Tablet PC and KBC Young people Leadership Program as part of the EPOP online course.

TOEFL diagnostic tests administered diagnostic test and vocabulary quizzes. During the trial period, EPOP monitored students’ performance and gathered the feedback from students and teachers. The course syllabus will be modified for the next phase based on the recommendations provided in the evaluation.

ANNUAL REPORT 2016-17
SSS activities and achievement

Scholarships and Student Support (SSS) successfully administered four scholarship programs which were Prospect Burma (PB), United World Colleges (UWC), B K Kee Foundation (B K Kee) and Thabyay 50 per cent tuition fee scholarship in the academic year of 2016. Out of 169 scholarship students, 113 are continuing students and 56 are new students. For Thabyay 50 per cent tuition fee scholarship, SSS networks closely with universities in Thailand and has signed MOUs to facilitate access and obtain tuition fee waiver for scholarship recipients and self-funding students from Myanmar. Out of a total of 169 students, 127 or 75 per cent were studying for Bachelor’s Degree, 34 or 21 per cent for Masters Degrees, 4 or 2 per cent for a PhD and 4 or 2 per cent for an undergraduate Diploma of United World Colleges (UWC). The majority of students (155) are based in Thailand. There are five students in Hong Kong, four each in Phillipines and with UWC, and one in Malaysia.

Scholarship outreach and counselling

Over 500 students dropped in or visited SSS for academic counseling and over 3,000 were reached through outreach presentations both in Yangon and further afield in Myanmar. The information offered included three main components: SSSELP marketing materials, preparation for universities and scholarships, and available scholarships managed and connected with SSS.

Future plans

SSS will continue to administer two scholarship programs in the coming year: Thabyay 50 per cent tuition fee waiver and United World College. It will also recruit self-financing students from Myanmar who want study at universities in South East Asia through tuition fee waiver. In addition, SSS will explore mechanisms and opportunities to seek more partner institutions and have MoUs (with whom?) in order to work collaboratively for Myanmar students.
Hello, Everyone! With the guidance and support from Thabyay Education Foundation, I am currently studying Master of Business Administration in Tourism Management at Assumption University, Bangkok, Thailand. Collaboration of personal interest and motivation drives me to study Tourism which becomes the major economic generator sector for every country worldwide, and to support the wellbeing of my communities and nation. Without doubt, learning and sharing together with my fellows from different nationalities gives me knowledge for my personal development.

My name is Salai Barnabas Cung Thawng Ling (my friends call me Thawngpi or Salai) and I am from Hakha, the capital city of Chin State, Myanmar. I grew up within a hotspot of social discrimination among our tribes, however, it made me more acquainted to diversities and enhanced my experience and understanding.

To have the chance for further study abroad was the greatest goal I have set from my childhood. I graduated with a BA in German, from Mandalay University of Foreign Languages (MUFL). To fulfill and increase my knowledge and abilities one of my biggest dreams has come true, with financial support from my uncles and psychological and mental encouragement from my family, I have the chance to study abroad.

Related to my study, my greatest plan is to support my communities’ development through promotion of the tourism industry by using existing natural resources in terms of economic, sociocultural and empowerment of local communities. I hope to provide necessary skills and knowledge for tourism development which will be beneficial to the development of tourism, to reduce high level of unemployment through participation in tourism activities, and end migration to other countries.

The conservation of the environment and preservation of our unique cultures is important to attract more tourists that will contribute to the maintenance of natural resources and decrease global warming and climate change. With the partnership of local governments, local communities, business owners, including all stakeholders, we can promote Chin State as world class and one of the best destinations for ecotourism, community-based tourism, green-tourism, adventure tourism, etc … and to meet global tourism goals of sustainability.

Thabyay gave me a chance to make my dreams come true. I’m now studying Architecture in Assumption University of Thailand. A year ago, I was at a loss and couldn’t see my future. I have always wanted to study in a good foreign university where I would be able to learn my abilities and upgrade them with time. Then I got the opportunity to join one of the programs of Thabyay Education Foundation. I was learning Architecture in Mandalay Technological University at the time and frustrated with the limitations of the study in many ways.

Professional development
An internship is an opportunity to experience the real working situation of organizations doing work in the field of interest. An internship is a position of professional development and it is expected that an intern contribute to the work being done by host organization and be able to take the initiative to create learning opportunities.

Internships in 2016-17
A total of 39 interns – 20 male and 19 female – successfully completed the TEF Internship program. Among them, 31 were KKEC graduates who were selected and placed on internship program in Yangon, Mandalay and Bago regions; and eight others, including one TEF administrated scholarship student, were recruited to be placed on internship program across Myanmar.

Partnerships
TEF built and maintained its relation and partnership with universities in upper Myanmar in 2016-17 by helping the faculty members further their professional skills and knowledge through ELP. Dr. Tin Zaw Latt, faculty member of the Zoology Department of Lashio University, was granted funding through ELP to support the research: ‘Preliminary Survey of Beetle Species (Coleoptera) in Lashio Environs, Northern Shan State’. Dr. Thidar Htwe Win, faculty member of the Anthropology Department of Mandalay University, was granted support for conducting training on ‘Qualitative Research Methods’ for teaching staff and students of the department in June 2016.
Hello! My name is Seng Mai S and I am studying International Tourism Management at Bangkok University International College (BUI). My ambition is to become a successful Chief Executive Officer in the hotel industry to utilize everything I have learnt and execute the development of hospitality in Myanmar.

As we all know, our education system is still poor. I left Pharmacy University after I finished the first year and have seen poor facilities and teaching systems, similarly in many other professional fields. Poor education pushes our generation down and makes development difficult. Since I was young I felt that something is wrong with our education system and wanted to study abroad to gain the knowledge of others and to improve my country.

After I finish my higher education, the first thing I want to do is to educate the Kachin young people who got stuck in refugee camps and lost their education, because if we don't educate them, they will probably join the KIA and become soldiers. For this particular ambition of mine, I want to go to the polar opposite of our traditional education. Here in BUI, I got to learn political science, intercultural relations and art appreciation subjects in my first year although my major is tourism management. I learnt this curriculum is a way to gain knowledge with virtue. I want to apply this method in my country so our students learn general knowledge that a citizen must know before they start learning for their future careers.

To be able to do that we need to be in a strong financial state. We also need to gain the required finance with our country’s remaining limited resources in creative ways. Trading them away or destroying the remaining resources will make the situation worse.

Myanmar is a beautiful country with remarkable religious places, landscapes and many other tourist destinations. Besides, different ethnic groups and their cultures are what attract tourists. Since Myanmar is moving toward democracy, although there are a lot of tremendous hardships, many aspects of social and economic activities will become beyond government control in the coming years.

As soon as the country opens to the global market, a lot of business investments will come in. Meanwhile, the only thing we have is human resource. We are still weak in many other aspects such as healthcare, engineering and technology. To sum up, my ultimate goal is to help people from my country who are in need of a helping hand as much as I can, through passion and hard work.

My name is Kaung Khant. My native town is Mandalay, currently I am studying at Rangsit International University in Thailand. My program is Philosophy, Politics and Economy. I joined this program as I am interested in both Philosophy and Politics which are really interesting subjects. I went to Rangsit University from the network by Thabyay Education Foundation. I got half a scholarship as a partial student. After studying for two semesters, I gained a lot of knowledge concerning the subjects, experiences of international activities and school activities, learning with many international friends and good living situations.

As I am studying away from my home for the first time, I have managed time and situations. I had challenges and struggles among the other international students. However, due to the learning methods of teachers and school facilities, I am comfortable with my learning. In addition, I am enjoying school activities and I am participating in some events, sports activities and other activities organized by the university. Therefore, my first plan that I am attaining to accomplish is to graduate at Rangsit University.

During my university life, I will try to learn to have a higher education as well as will show my enthusiasm participating in school activities. Moreover, I will practice my skills of cooperative, leadership and hard work. After my learning, I am dreaming of administrative positions in social fields as the situations of my country pushed me to do so. Therefore, my aim is to get my goal with diligence, punctuality, cooperation and hard work.
At Thabyay, 83 per cent of our expenditure directly supports the programs. For every $100 that we spent in 2016, we self-supported ourselves $18. We would like to thank our donors and funders, whose generous support — financial and otherwise — helps make possible everything TEF achieves. Our funding comes from a mix of individuals, family foundations and institutional donors. Since our founding in 1996, the Open Society Foundations, Prospect Burma, B.K Kee Foundation have been primary supporters of our programs as well as administration.

Beginning in 2015, the Leona M. and Harry B. Helmsley Charitable Trust generously provided support for our signature programs, the Kant Kaw School of Community Leadership and Social Studies (CLASS) and the Curriculum Department. In 2017, this program begins to receive funding from the Peace Support Fund (PSF).

Fiscal efficiency is one of our top priorities as we continue to face the challenge of fundraising and diverse, evolving needs of Myanmar’s myriad of marginalized communities. We also take great pride in our operational efficiency, accountability and transparency.

The first chart shows the percentage breakdown of our expenditure by program. The second chart shows the percentage breakdown of revenue by source. Both are for 2016.
SINCERE THANKS

WE VALUE OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH ALL OUR PARTNERS: INDIVIDUALS; LOCAL, NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS; UNIVERSITIES; AND FUNDERS. WE COULDN’T ACHIEVE WHAT WE DO WITHOUT EVERY SINGLE ONE OF YOU.
